*An exhibition of banners and paintings
by Wayne Forte*

I have found that the biblical narrative, as well as issues of spirituality, are more readily approached using traditional yet obsolete liturgical idioms. I suppose every artist feels an obligation to learn the language of his generation to join in a conversation with his peers, to feel a part of the mainstream culture and hopefully even make a contribution to the advancement of the artistic enterprise. There also comes a time when an artist looks either further afield or closer to home to go ahead with what seems important to him and that is what I have tried to do here. I hope you feel the generous spirit and the earnestness of faith which are at the core of these paintings.
